Citing job opportunities and the amount of federal money local communities receive from an accurate census count, Armenian National Committee of Burbank Chairman Garen Yegparian called on the local Armenian-American community to attend a "Community Issues Briefing" about the 2010 United States Census.

The meeting will be Saturday, December 12 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Ovrom Park and Community Center, 601 San Fernando Boulevard in Burbank (at the corner of Providencia Ave.).

Attendees will learn about census-related job opportunities, the importance of participation as a civic duty, and the importance of making sure every Armenian, who resides in the USA, is counted.

The U.S. Constitution calls for a count of all residents in America every 10 years. The results of that count or "census," are used to determine how much federal money a city or community receives for numerous projects and programs.

In addition to a friendly, refreshment-filled environment, those in attending the Issues Briefing will hear presentations from ANC Burbank Chairman Garen Yegparian, Armenian National Committee of America Western Region Community Relations Director Haig Hovsepian, and Natalie Osgood of the Burbank Complete-Count Committee.
